Yesterday, Today, and Forever

“Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and for ever.” (Hebrews 13:8)

I knew that this verse ended with forever, but I hadn't thought about what it didn't end with: tomorrow. We have yesterday, we have today, but we don't have tomorrow! Tomorrow is not promised to us; we are promised forever! We know our past, we know our present, but we don't know our future. We can make plans for our future (jobs, retirement, family trips, even where we're going to eat out tonight), but that's just it: it's a plan. A plan to do something that hasn't happened yet. Planning for the future is necessary and okay (we do it all the time), and the odds are high that our plans will come to pass. But it isn't a guarantee. It isn't something “you can take to the bank.” And I, of all people, have experienced this. I know how your future can change in a moment's time.

We say we're going to do a work for the Lord. We have all these plans to reach the lost, to witness to our neighbors, to teach a bible study to our co-workers, to invite some friends out to church. We have plenty of good intentions, but we wait. We procrastinate. “I've got plenty of time to do this. I can do it next week when things are better.” Reality check: You don't know what lies in store for your life later on today. You don't know what lies in store for your neighbors, co-workers, friends, or family member's lives later on today. Jesus said, “I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work.” (John 9:4) “Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest.” (John 4:35) We need to work while it is still day. Our night will surely come unexpectedly.

Jesus talks about “forever.” It's called “eternity.” That is something you can bank on. Where you spend eternity is up to you. But by being saved you can make a guaranteed reservation to an eternity in heaven with Jesus! But do it today, because the vapor which is your life may vanish before tomorrow. “Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth. (Proverbs 27:1) To me, it would be such an awful thing to say “I'm going to church next Sunday and get my life straight with God,” only to pass away beforehand. Jesus is here today, and He can not only forgive your past but change your life around today, and you can rest assured that your eternal salvation will be with Him forever! -wm

"...if my people, who are called by my name, will humble themselves and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and I will forgive their sin and will heal their land."

Willie's Korner

100 Points

A man dies and goes to heaven. St. Peter meets him at the pearly gates. St. Peter says, "Here's how it works. You need 100 points to make it into heaven. You tell me all the good things you've done, and I give you a certain number of points for each item, depending on how good it was. When you reach 100 points, you get in."

"Okay" the man says, "I attended church every Sunday"

"That's good, says St. Peter, " that's worth two points"

"Two points?" he says. "Well, I gave 10% of all my earnings to the church"

"Well, let's see," answers Peter, "that's worth another 2 points. Did you do anything else?"

"Two points? Golly. How about this: I started a soup kitchen in my city and worked in a shelter for homeless veterans."

"Fantastic, that's certainly worth a point, " he says.

"hmmm...", the man says, "I was married to the same woman for 50 years and never cheated on her, even in my heart."

"That's wonderful," says St. Peter, "that's worth three points!"

"THREE POINTS!!" the man cries, "At this rate the only way I get into heaven is by the grace of God!"

"Come on in!"

Now, that's something to think about.

Until next time, Willie

Mission Statement:

The Pentecostals of Greenville is an Apostolic church. We are committed to exalt Jesus Christ, to worship Him in Spirit and in Truth, to proclaim the gospel, to evangelize our community, to minister to people's needs and to provide a spiritual atmosphere of fellowship and growth.
