God's Will, Not My Own

I want to thank the Lord for keeping me safe and in His will. The longer I walk with God, the more I realize that living for God requires not only commitment but also confidence in God's promises. The promises of God are available to us but it's only our faith and obedience to God that will bring them to pass in our life. Prayer is the key to the promise.

Have you ever stopped and listened to your prayers? I did, and it sounded more like I was giving God my shopping list instead of my prayers and worship. The good thing, though, was that God was listening to my prayers too, and He cares about us because we are His children. He keeps us in His care. He answers our prayers right on time; if He chooses to delay the answer, I am still blessed. If you never answer another prayer for me, you have already accomplished more in my lifetime than I deserve. I am thankful that you do what is best for me.

What do I know about my future? It's in God's hands. As it is, He gently reminds me that His grace is sufficient. Lord, thank you for keeping me, even when I whine and complain like a spoiled child.

I used to think that everybody else got their prayers answered but me. When I watched other people, all I saw was how much they were being blessed. Life seemed so easy for them. It was as if they never had a care in the world. It bothered me so much that I made it a matter of prayer. It was during the hardest trials of my life that the Lord taught me a valuable lesson. During this wilderness experience, the Lord abandoned me (or so I thought). Since I was sick and tired of weeping, desperately I poured my heart out to God and cried, "Lord, you've got to do something!" He answered me with a question: "Why don't YOU do something?"

Could I have the power to overcome within myself? My deliverance from fretting and worrying had come. God led me to find something to enjoy in every day (some days I had to work very hard to find it) and to hold on to the most important treasures: God, love, and family. Every day has a beauty all its own. Every day is unique in its own way, and it is up to us as Christians to treasure the day and to use it for His glory.

We are able to enjoy today because like every day, this is the day that the Lord has made, and it is precious. We'll never have a second chance to live this day. Once the time is spent, it is gone. Thank you, Lord, for making this a day that matters. I am truly blessed. gm/wm

Scriptures to live by

"For wisdom is better than rubies; and all the things that may be desired are not to be compared to it. I love them that love me; and those that seek me early shall find me. Riches and honor are with me; yea, durable riches and righteousness. My fruit is better than gold, yea, than fine gold; and my revenue than choice silver. I lead in the way of righteousness, in the midst of the paths of judgment: That I may cause those that love me to inherit substance; and I will fill their treasures."

(Proverbs 8:11, 17-21)

Purpose and Power
