My Commitment is for Eternity

-This article was written by Grace for The Lattereign on Dec. 25, 2016...may her legacy continue on.

I'm not ashamed to lift up the name of Jesus, and I didn't take on His name only to hide in a corner somewhere and be afraid to call on it. It's not that I have any special anointing on my life, or that I am unique in any way. The one thing that has made me bold in my profession of faith is the day that I made a commitment for Eternity. If you come to my house I'll lift up the Name of Jesus, and if you see me on the street you'll know what I stand for because I'm walking in His light.

You see, Jesus came into my life one day in a powerful way. After I got honest with Him and recognized my need for Him, I repented of my sins and He filled me with the Holy Ghost. It was years later, after I had backslid, that I realized that there was more to this salvation than saying, "I'm sorry," or speaking in tongues. I had always felt that something was missing. (If I had been baptized in Jesus' Name back when I first found Jesus, I may not have backslid.)

I didn't have the power because I wasn't fully committed to this gospel until I took on Jesus' Name in baptism. Since that time, December 8, 1991, I am committed for eternity. It was below freezing outside on the Sunday night that I was baptized in Jesus' Name, but when I came out of the cold water, I was warm and complete.

Every year, memories flood my soul as I unpack Christmas ornaments, old cards, mementos that mean so much to me. One of those sustaining memories for me has been the four plastic ornaments that are oval-shaped and depict scenes of the three wise men, the shepherds, the nativity, and the angels. They have been a part of my tree for 43 years. When I lost everything because of sin, the ornaments were one of the things that survived. Through children's curiosity, cat's paws, clumsy hands, shuffled boxes, packing and unpacking—the ornaments have given me hope that there is a God who is faithful and He understands when we aren't able to see His provision. When I doubted that He even noticed my tears, the ornaments hung there to remind me that He was well aware of my grief and that He would never leave me nor forsake me.

As the boughs of the tree have lifted and held the ornaments, so has God's eternal love lifted me. I can't read the future, and for the ones who have gone before, I can't know their destination, but I can trust in God that we which are alive and remain will be caught up to meet Him in the air. You see, I'm committed for eternity and the ornaments are a reminder of my promise and my commitment. I am blessed--gm
